Other Perspectives on Industrial Wind Energy

A PRESENTATION AND DISCUSSION

Tuesday, June 21, 2011
6:00 P.M.
Indian Springs Middle School

Sponsored by:

A very informative presentation and discussion featuring guest speakers: Dave and Stephanie Hulthen and Professor Roger A. McEowen.

Dave and Stephanie Hulthen will join us to give their firsthand description of what it's like to live in the middle of an industrial wind installation and how they and their children cope with living near thirteen 40-story turbines within one mile of their house. Check out their blog at <http://lifewithdekalbturbines.blogspot.com/>

Professor McEowen, Director of the Center for Agricultural Law & Taxation, Iowa State University, will share his insights into the economic ramifications of wind-generated electricity, address the topic of the taxpayer subsidies that support the wind energy industry, and detail the legal and tax issues surrounding wind energy production and landowner agreements.

The presentations will be followed by questions and answers as time allows.
